 The term "Reference Rate" is BNY's determination of market price of U.S. dollars per local currency as quoted by a local liquidity provider (which may include BNY's own trading desk(s)) for the specified date and volume of the transaction.*

The Bank of New York Mellon (the "Depositary") may pay a rebate to brokers in connection with the issuance of unsponsored GDNs; brokers may or may not disclose or pass back some or all of such rebate to investors. The Depositary may also use brokers, dealers or other service providers that are affiliates and that may earn or share fees and commissions. The Depositary may execute foreign currency transactions itself or through its affiliates, or the Custodian or the Issuer of the Deposited Securities may convert currency and pay US Dollars to the Depositary. Where the Depositary converts currency itself or through any of its affiliates, the Depositary acts as principal for its own account and not as agent, advisor, broker or fiduciary on behalf of any other person and earns revenue, including, without limitation, transaction spreads, that it will retain for its own account. The revenue is based on, among other things, the difference between the exchange rate assigned to the currency conversion made and the rate that the Depositary or its affiliate receives when buying or selling foreign currency for its own account. The Depositary makes no representation that the exchange rate used or obtained by it or its affiliate in any currency conversion will be the most favorable rate that could be obtained at the time or that the method by which that rate will be determined will be the most favorable to Owners, subject to the Depositary's obligations under the Receipt. The methodology used to determine exchange rates used in currency conversions made by the Depositary is available upon request or at:

Where the Custodian converts currency, the Custodian has no obligation to obtain the most favorable rate that could be obtained at the time or to ensure that the method by which that rate will be determined will be the most favorable to Owners, and the Depositary makes no representation that the rate is the most favorable rate and will not be liable for any direct or indirect losses associated with the rate. In certain instances, the Depositary may receive payment or other distributions from the Issuer of Deposited Securities in US Dollars that represent the proceeds of a conversion of foreign currency or translation from foreign currency at a rate that was obtained or determined by or on behalf of the Issuer of Deposited Securities and, in such cases, the Depositary will not engage in, or be responsible for, any foreign currency transactions and neither it nor the Issuer of Deposited Securities makes any representation that the rate obtained or determined by the Issuer of Deposited Securities is the most favorable rate and neither it nor the Issuer of Deposited Securities will be liable for any direct or indirect losses associated with the rate.
